

Come and have your say...

Where do we go to solve the challenges facing small businesses? Scores of good businesses find the banks reluctant to lend, processes too long and the fees too high. Isn't it time we looked to innovation to change the lending landscape? Join our experts for an 8.30am breakfast meeting on July 19, held in partnership with Sam Gyimah MP and Nesta, and have your say. To find out more and to register, visit telegraphbusinessclub.co.uk

William Reeve
Successful serial entrepreneur and founder of LoveFilm

“
The postwar era spawned 3i. The early 1990s recession spawned AIM. What is the answer today?

Sam Gyimah MP

Stian Westlake
Director of policy research at Nesta, the innovation think tank

Samir Desai
Director of online marketplace Funding Circle, enabling direct loans to small firms

Malcolm Small
Director of policy at the Tax Incentivised Savings Association

“Business owners and entrepreneurs: this is your opportunity to contribute to the debate and help to innovate. Only 140 places available.” - Matthew Margetts, publisher, The Telegraph Business Club. Visit telegraphbusinessclub.co.uk